Overview

The hoop skirt, which is sometimes referred to as a farthingale, pannier or cage crinoline, is a foundational garment from the Tudor and Elizabethan eras. Used to support the exaggerated circular and domed shapes in style at the time, hoop skirts were heavily structured petticoats worn underneath all layers of gown skirts. Hoop skirts can be fairly expensive to purchase ready-made, and may not necessarily come in exactly the shapes you are looking for. You can make your own hoop skirt for historical purposes or to complement a costume gown.

Step 1

Determine what shape of hoop skirt you need. Your skirt can be completely round, oblong or boxy. Then determine the hoop skirt circumference you need at the bottom hem and the skirt length. Next, take your waist measurement.

Step 4: Review

- Each assignment in the Studio is reviewed by a Photo Editor. If need be, your editor will send you a reshoot request with specific instructions on what needs to be redone.
- You'll receive feedback from an editor on every assignment, even if it does not require a reshoot, so you can continue to excel on future assignments.

Step 5: Payment

- Upon approval by a Photo Editor, the payment for your assignment will be added to your account. Studio payments are issued via PayPal twice a week (Tuesdays and Fridays).
